Free, optional subscription

Snugbloom Studio, one developer in Italy. All dates are DD/MM/YYYY.

Small daily goals, and a companion that grows with them

Pick 3 to 8 small goals

53 ideas in six groups (body, mind, home, people, work, sleep), or your own. Drink a glass of water. Make the bed. Call someone.

Tick them off with one tap

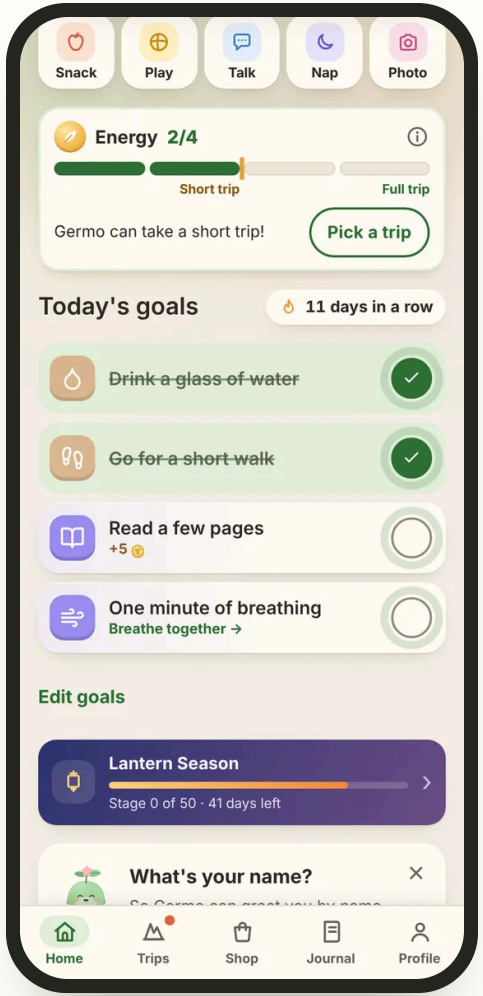

Each goal gives your companion energy, points and Tanì, the in-app coins for its room and wardrobe.

Send it on a trip

Half your goals done: a short trip nearby. All of them: a full trip. It comes back with an illustrated postcard for the album.

Also inside: a mood journal with a question of the day, guided breathing, letters to your future self, small calm games and a home-screen widget. Seven companions to choose from, three of them free.

Why now: Christmas first, then the January fresh start

21/11/2026 — Planned launch on Google Play

08/12/2026 — Christmas switches on (until 06/01/2027)

07/01/2027 — Fresh start (until 31/01/2027)

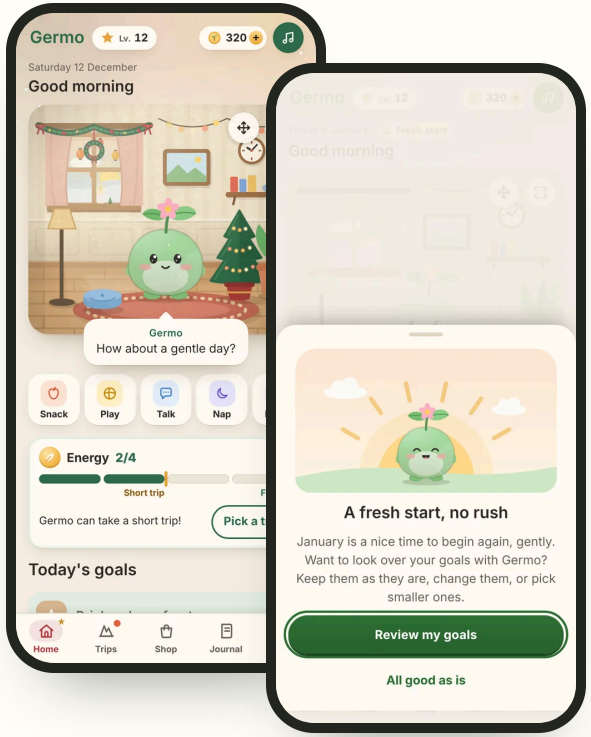

08/01/2027 — Feature date we ask for

Christmas, 08/12 to 06/01

The whole app turns festive. You grow a Christmas tree in five steps with the coins you save, and Plus members pay 30% less. A finished tree leaves a keepsake ornament in your profile. The snow turns off with "Fewer animations".

Fresh start, 07/01 to 31/01

On the first open, a short card asks if you want to look at your goals again: keep them, change them, or pick smaller ones. There is no shop push and no coin bonus. January is when habit apps get found, and we want that first week to feel calm.

Both events are already in build 1.0.8 and switch on from the phone's date, every year.

What makes Tanetto different

languages at launch

A leading self-care pet app is English only: its App Store listings show English as the only language (checked on 09/11/2026). Tanetto speaks English, Italian, German, Spanish, French, Portuguese, Japanese, Korean, Simplified and Traditional Chinese, Russian, Polish, Dutch and Turkish.

No guilt

The companion is never sad, hungry or sick. Come back after a few days away and it greets you with a small gift.

Gentle streaks

One goal keeps your streak going. One rest day a week counts. If you have a shield, it covers a missed day by itself.

A calm mode

"Fewer animations" in settings, and the app also follows the phone's reduce motion setting.

Postcards from real places

Each language has its own four places: London and New York in English, Kyoto and Mount Fuji in Japanese, Venice in Italian, Rio in Portuguese.

Tanetto caps the day at 8 goals and checks each one with a single tap.

New in 1.0.8, the build we launch with

Short trips
Half of today's goals is enough for a trip nearby. A tester told us she felt defeated on days she could not finish them all.

A room you can arrange
Drag furniture where you like and hand small things, like a teddy or a book, to your companion.

A bigger wardrobe
New hats, plus things to wear around the neck and on the face. A bow tie as a welcome gift.

Review prompt only after a happy moment
After a trip or a 7-day streak, never in the first 3 days, at most once a month, never tied to a reward.

Christmas and Fresh start
Both events ship inside this build and turn on by date.

Touch that feels like care
Head for a pat, sides for a tickle, belly for a scratch, feet for a little hop.

Favourite foods
Each of the seven companions has one, found by trying. Six new snacks.

Postcards to share
A 9:16 image with a link. On Android it leads to Google Play; on other phones it opens the web version.

Clearer layout
Tabs called Home, Trips, Shop, Journal and Profile. A warmer colour palette. The shop marks what you can afford.

Water you can play with Throw the ball into the sea or the pond and it floats back. The lantern city got a full redraw.

The shareable postcard as a Japanese user sees it: Tokyo, with the caption in Japanese.

Accessibility, performance, privacy and ads

Accessibility

- "Larger text" and "Fewer animations" in settings.
- Follows the system reduce motion setting.
- Text colours are checked against WCAG AA contrast (4.5:1) in light, dark and Christmas themes by an automated test.
- Dialogs and live updates carry labels for screen readers.

Performance

- App bundle under 10 MB. Runs on Android 7 and later.
- If a phone drops frames, a light mode turns on by itself. Phones with 2 GB of RAM or less start in it.
- Animations follow 90 and 120 Hz screens.
- 26 automated test suites pass on the release build.

Privacy and Data Safety

- No account needed: goals, companion and journal stay on the phone.
- A free account (Google or email) is optional and only used for backup. It can be deleted in the app or on the web.
- Usage counts are anonymous.
- The reward-video SDK (Google AdMob) uses the advertising ID and approximate location, as declared in Data Safety. It is not loaded for Plus members.

Ads and prices

- No forced ads. Reward videos are shown only when you tap for one: up to 5 a day, never at launch, never on goals, never to save a streak.
- Plus has no ads: 4,99 € a month or 44,99 € a year in Italy, with 7 free days on the yearly plan for new subscribers.
- No paid random boxes. Streak shields are never sold on their own.

Dark theme, late evening

14 languages, with local content in each

14
app languages, from English to Turkish

19
store listing locales

real local places per language

14
sets of local help numbers

- Postcards come from places that mean something to each reader: Neuschwanstein for German, Kraków for Polish, Istanbul for Turkish, Seoul for Korean.
- If a message in the companion chat sounds like a crisis, the app shows help lines for that language: Samaritans and 988 in English, TelefonSeelsorge in German, CVV 188 in Portuguese.
- A friendly "you" in most languages (tu, du, tú, você), polite forms in Japanese and Korean.
- Store listing, release notes and purchase names in all 19 locales, including es-419, es-US, fr-CA, pt-PT and zh-HK.

Where we are today

Tanetto is not live yet, so there are no public numbers. Here is what we do have.

A closed test that changed the app

1.0.2 A tester asked for a way to skip the setup. A Skip button on every onboarding step.

1.0.2 A developer who tried it found too many goals to pick from at the start. 8 suggestions first, the rest behind "See all".

1.0.4 A tester said the UI was good but the frame rate was low. An automatic light mode for slower phones.

1.0.8 A tester felt defeated when she missed some goals. Short trips with half the goals.

The facts

Closed test on Google Play since October 2026, with 24 testers.

Production access approved on 05/11/2026. Build 1.0.8 was sent to review on 10/11/2026 and goes live as soon as it is approved, expected by 21/11/2026.

Platforms: Android first. The same app also runs in the browser and works offline. There is no iOS version.

First real numbers: D1, D7 and D30 from Play Console in mid-December. We will share them.

Paid ads budget: 0 €. Growth is organic: short videos, local communities, press emails, shared postcards.

The next three months

21/11/2026	Planned launch of 1.0.8 in 14 languages, with the store listing in 19 locales.	In the build
08/12/2026 to 06/01/2027	Christmas in the app: festive theme and a tree to grow in five steps.	In the build
08/12/2026	Christmas screenshots on the main store listing, removed on 07/01/2027.	Planned
By 18/12/2026	Version 1.0.9 to review: a bigger home-screen widget in more sizes, with goals you can tick from the widget on Android 12 and later.	Planned
1.0.9 or 1.0.10	Invite a friend. Both get a cosmetic gift once the friend has done three days of goals, never at install.	Planned
07/01 to 31/01/2027	Fresh start: a calm week to look at your goals again.	In the build
Around 06/02/2027	Lunar New Year touches for the Korean and Chinese versions.	Planned
10/02 to 16/02/2027	Valentine's week turned inward: small goals about being kind to yourself.	Planned

Who makes it

Snugbloom Studio is one developer in Italy. No team and no ad budget, just the app and the people who use it.

Tanetto went online as a web app in October 2026. Android builds 1.0.1 to 1.0.7 went through a closed test on Google Play, and the changes testers asked for are in the app you will review.

Build 1.0.8 passed all 26 automated test suites before going to review.
